PREFACE

K.N.M. Government Arts & Science College is located at Kanjiramkulam, the southernmost region in Kerala state, near the coastal area of Neyyattinkara Taluk in Thiruvananthapuram district, the capital of Kerala. It is a thickly populated village with a major section of the inhabitants finding their livelihood in agriculture and fishing. The village is very close to the Arabian Sea. It takes a triangular shape with one edge the internationally reputed tourist place Kovalam and the international trans-shipment container terminal Vizhinjam; the second edge the coastal village of Poovar and the Tamilnadu border district of Kanyakumari; with the third side being Neyyattinkara, a place on the bank of the river Neyyar, which is the centre place of social reform movements.

In the early days of the twentieth century South Kerala was a region of socially, economically and educationally backward people. But a galaxy of selfless workers, far sighted men, social activists, social cultural and religious organizations under the banner of Kanjiramkulam Pradesika Sabha (Kanjiramkulam Regional Assembly) lead by Shri. M. Kunjukrishnan Nadar brought about an all round development of the village. Later Kanjiramkulam was the centre of the village upliftment committee headed by Sri. P. K. Sathyamoorthy, who was honored by granting the national award for the Best Teacher. The first high school in south Kerala was established in Kanjiramkulam by Sri. P. K. Sathyanesan, during the reign of His Highness Visakom Thirunal, Maharaja of Travancore. The school produced eminent luminaries known nationally and internationally and celebrated its centenary recently. It is not polemical to state that the cultural history of south Kerala started in Kanjiramkulam Village.

Sri M. Kunjukrishnan Nadar realized that development of a society can be achieved only through education which is to be channelized by Panchayats. At that time the Government of Kerala framed some projects to be implemented through some “self reliant” villages. Consequently, they selected 113 “self-reliant” villages and Kanjiramkulam was one among them. We feel proud to have Kanjiramkulam keeping its place second in rank among the most literate villages in the highly literate state of Kerala. The Panchayath has 5 lower primary schools, four high schools, four pre primary schools and three continuing education centres attached to it.

But the Panchayath lacks facilities for higher education. Students have to go to Thiruvananthapuram, which is 30 Km. away from Kanjiramkulam for their higher studies. Shri. Kunjukrishnan Nadar, the prominent social reformer and MLA was in the front of the agitation for starting a college in this area. The long cherished dream of Sri. Kunjukrishnan Nadar and the aspiration of the people of Kanjiramkulam and other areas were fulfilled when the Government of Kerala sanctioned the start of Government College at Kanjiramkulam. The achievement was the outcome of the sponsoring committee chaired by Shri M R Reghu Chandra Bal, the then president of Kanjiramkulam Panchayath.

Necessary affiliation was granted by the University of Kerala to start a junior college with two batches of pre-degree having strength of 80 students each for the Humanities and Commerce groups.

The college was formally inaugurated on 27th October 1982 by Shri K Karunakaran, the honourable Chief Minister of Kerala. Dr. P M Madhu Soodanan assumed charge of the principal of the college on 2nd November 1982. The college was affiliated to the University of Kerala. The college was named as KUNJUKRISHNAN NADAR MEMORIAL GOVERNMENT ARTS AND SCIENCE COLLEGE KANJIRAMKULAM as per G O (M.S) No 79/83/ H.Edn. Dated 18th April 1983.

The first graduate course was started in the year 1992 with Economics as main subject. In 1995 B.A. in Sociology was sanctioned. K.N.M. Government College is the only Government College, which offers this course. In 1997 the college was shifted to the present “H” shaped building. In the 1998 - 2000 periods, Pre Degree batches were de-linked from the college and two new graduate courses were started (BSc Mathematics and B Com). In 1999 this college was affiliated to the UGC and the college got 12 (B) and 2(f) status. In 2004 BA in Communicative English, the one and only course of its kind in the Government sector was started. Now the college has five graduate courses and a post graduate course

1. B A Economics
2. B A Sociology
3. B Sc Mathematics
4. B Com (Tax Procedure and practice)

5. B A Communicative English

6. M A in Sociology

Along with aided courses the college also has three self financing certificate courses and three add on courses.

At present 656 students with 282 boys and 404 girls are studying in the college. Also there are 31 dedicated teachers and 20 non-teaching staff. The college has a well functioning PTA, Old Students Association, N S S, Women Study Unit, Continuing Education Unit and other developmental organizations. Now the college is equipped with an air-conditioned seminar hall, a language lab , a studio with editing facilities, a centralized computer centre , EDUSAT studio Physics laboratory, Mathematics lab , Data Analysis lab and EDP lab which a college in Government sector hardly possesses.

Today KNM Government Arts and Science College shines as the only one treasure house of knowledge in the Government sector in Neyyattinkara Taluk.

7.3. Best Practices.

7.3.1. Elaborate on any two practices

1) Library @ Class

Title of the Practice

Library @ class & Reading Corner

Goal

The goal of Library@class is to inculcate reading habit in the students so that their perception of the world can transcend the limitation of the geographic and physical environment.

The context

It was observed that with the advent of science and technology, kids today have become more of tech slaves than masters. They have practically bid goodbye to the wisdom enshrined in the pages of books. With each passing year and batch, this trend has only strengthened. The academic community in the college, which included a few students as well, felt that it was high time some innovative measure was adopted.

The practice

Under Library@class, class libraries are set up in all departments. Students are encouraged to collect books from various sources. A team under the class leader is given the charge of setting up and maintaining the class library. A shelf is provided to each class and the books are kept in good condition. Books are issued to students every day at a predetermined time. Books on various disciplines and literary works are kept in the library. A corner of the class is meant to be the Reading corner where the students keep all the material which are worth to be read and internalised.

Evidence of success

Library@class has actually begun to reap rewards. Students have started to show interest in reading fiction and non-fiction works. Since the books belong either to themselves or their friends, and are kept under collective ownership, the students show an improved sense of responsibility and care in handling the books. Moreover, they are really enthusiastic in discussing about what they have read.

Problems encountered and research required

The important problem encountered in the beginning was the lack of proper infrastructure. Some classrooms were not deemed secure and this was a major hurdle during the planning stage. To solve the issue it was decided that in such cases, the books will be kept in the concerned department until secure classrooms can be assured. The next roadblock was to get the students to read. This was a particularly difficult task and required strategic planning because though all were enthusiastic to furnish the class library with books, most were reluctant to bid even a brief farewell to the allure of the social media and chill-time with friends. This was overcome with the aid of peer support groups. The students who were really into reading initiated discussions in class and gradually the others joined. Soon the initiative was taken up by the student community as has been evidenced in the meetings of the reading and literary clubs.

Interdisciplinary knowledge is essential in today's knowledge economy and society. Hence, further research is required to ascertain the reading pattern of the students and to channel them out of the cliché genres.

2) FLAIR-Societal EngagementTitle of the practice*Flair-Foresight*Goal

The major objectives of the programme are:

1. To identify through survey, the skill set that the students wish to imbibe for increasing their employability and career building prospects.
2. To establish collaboration with reputed professional bodies, NGOs, business firms, local self government institutions, consultancy firms, etc. to facilitate exposure for the interested students.
3. To assist the students in documenting and reporting the exposure and the skills that they have learned while working in collaboration with the agencies

The context

Fostering Linkages in Academic Innovations and Research (FLAIR) is a flagship programme of the Directorate of Collegiate Education under the Ministry of Higher Education, Government of Kerala. 	weakness	There is no other facility in the department like a smart class room or other necessary electronic equipments.
	Opportunities	Political Science is one of the most essential subjects for all India civil services and all other competitive examinations. Also its is very helpful for those planning to undergo Degree or Master Programme in Law or Journalism. Hence even as a complimentary subject the department is able to provide necessary support for needful students.
	Threats	There is no U G Programme in Political science. Most of the students are not focusaed or interested in academic activities as this college is situated in a rural as well as coastal area.
	Future plans	Have applied for starting under graduate programme in Political Science.
